In the fifteenth chapter of First Corinthians the Apostle Paul warns of the dangers of evil associates. The particular ones to which he referred were those of faulty religious beliefs who did not believe in the resurrection of the dead. Said he to the Corinthian church, “Don’t deceive yourselves—evil friendships destroy good characters.”

Constant association with men who believed that this life is all and there is nothing to follow had infected the Corinthian church until the apostle found it necessary to go to great lengths to undo the damage. He warned them of the danger of self-deception at this point.

To think that we can constantly company with heresy either in person or in our reading habits without damage to our faith is to deceive ourselves. Not all brilliant minds have espoused the cause of Christ and heart holiness, and a brilliant mind and a warm personality are sometimes mistaken for spiritual life. The human mind, no matter how brilliant, is not a safe guide; for often several brilliant minds thinking on the same subject at the same time reach radically different conclusions, proving that the human mind alone is not a dependable guide.

Spiritual things are spiritually discerned. We need a divine revelation and the Holy Spirit to guide us into all truth. Some men today have fallen into the same snare to which the Corinthian church was exposed. They professed they could no longer subscribe to the holiness position because their minds were broadening. Subsequent events proved that it was not a mind broadening but a conscience stretching which finally resulted in the wrecking of faith and ministry.

A man is affected by the atmosphere that surrounds him. Therefore, in order to nurture holy character let us preach holiness, teach holiness, write holiness, sing holiness, read holiness, and live holiness in everyday life.

“Sidney Knox, missionary to New Guinea, was examined by specialists in the Los Angeles area and his condition was determined as desperate. The specialists felt that neither surgery nor X-ray therapy would be of any help. He is now at home in Lubbock, Texas, and without God’s help, cannot live. PLEASE PRAY!”

Set aside July 10 (or 11) as a special day of prayer and fasting that God will heal Brother Knox if it be His will.

Spokane, Washington—The fifty-seventh assembly of Northwest District was a challenging experience under the dynamic and spiritual leadership of General Superintendent G. B. Williamson. District showed gains in all departments. Church membership is at 5,090 with 877 received, 516 on profession of faith, Northwest a “10 per cent” district. Rev. Arthur Tweet, Princeton, Idaho, pastor, received District Superintendent Zachary’s “achievement award” for the Golden Anniversary year, a trip to the Holy Land. Harold Stickney and Raymond Bolgerjack ordained. Dr. E. E. Zachary, much beloved by pastors and people of Northwest District, was given love offering of over $1,000. Northwest District goes forward with God and the church.—P. J. Bartram, Reporter.

Rev. Minnie E. Ludwig, mother of Dr. S. T. Ludwig, general church secretary, the widow of the late Rev. Theodore Ludwig, died peacefully in her sleep Friday night, June 20, at the home in Nashville, Illinois. She was eighty-one years of age. She had been a Nazarene elder since 1914.

Rev. W. R. Robinson writes that “after four happy years as pastor of First Church, in Vancouver, B.C.,” he has resigned to accept the call to the church in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, and will begin his duties there on August 3.

Rev. Paul M. Sodowsky writes: “After serving as pastor of our Independence, Kansas church, for nine years, I have resigned to accept the call to our church in Carthage, Missouri. The Carthage church has granted me a six-week leave of absence to make a tour of Europe and Palestine, June 30 to August 10; this tour is under the sponsorship of the Winona Lake Flying Seminar.”

After serving as pastor of Eastridge Church in Wichita for the past three years, Rev. Robert L. Leffel has resigned to accept the call to pastor the church in Independence, Kansas.

The Keller-York Evangelistic Party send word, “After much prayer and consideration, we are remaining in the evangelical field. All dates are secure.”

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Baughman, retired Nazarene ministers, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on July 27, at 2003 N. Delphos Street, Kokomo, Indiana. They have spent nearly thirty-five years in the active Nazarene ministry. Among their pastors are Parker, Kokomo, Galesburg, Illinois; Elmhurst, Illinois; Galesburg and Fort Dodge, Iowa. Their daughter Ruth, wife of Evangelist Oliver Morgan, is working in the evangelistic field. Rev. and Mrs. Baughman would appreciate hearing from their friends.

Evangelist Clayton D. Bailey writes that he is leaving the field to accept the call to pastor a home mission church in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Rev. Ted DeBolt has resigned as pastor at the Charlestown church to accept the church, Union Chapel, at Clay City, Indiana, after three years in Charleston.

Evangelists Ralph and Betty Baker write that they have left the field to accept the pastorate of the church at East Conemaugh, Pennsylvania.

Gleanings from the Office Editor’s Desk

“I thank God for such a paper as the Herald of Holiness. I never intend to be without it as long as I live. Each month I read a message from the Herald in our church; I cannot tell you how much help they are to our church.”—Indiana.

“I wish to thank you for your wonderful magazine, Herald of Holiness. It has been a wonderful blessing to my life. . . . By denomination, I am— and a ministerial student at the University of Oslo, Norway. I sail next week for Europe, but will leave behind many wonderful experiences through close association with the Nazarene church.”—Mississippi.

“I often find that one article read in an issue of the Herald of Holiness is worth the subscription price of the paper. Keep up the good work for the furtherance of God’s kingdom.”—Pennsylvania.

“I want to tell you how much I enjoy reading your magazine, Herald of Holiness. . . . You might be interested in knowing how I got your magazine. I picked it out of the discarded magazines at the Akron Public Library.”—Ohio.

“I would like to say that this week’s Herald of Holiness seemed better than ever. . . . it seems it brings us close to the Master. I thank God for people like you folks who make these papers for us outsiders so that we can get a better understanding of our good Master.”—Illinois.

“My wife and I enjoy the Herald of Holiness and do our best to read it faithfully as it comes to our home.”—Florida.
We no longer live in the age of the ox and sled nor the horse and buggy; nor do we any longer live in the age of the propeller-driven airplanes; even in our own jet-propelled age we stand in awe on the threshold of a new era, which even now we have already entered. As Dr. Arthur J. Gossip has well said, "... Whether we like it or do not, the world we knew has vanished; and another and very different one, rising above the waters, is taking shape before our eyes." The scenes have rapidly changed faces; we know, for we have watched them.

But what does this mean for the Christian? Is it a mark of intelligence to say that because my grandfather wore knickerbockers I too must? I think not. Is it a mark of wisdom to attempt to live in the "good ole days" and discount the possibilities of our own? I believe not. To do so is credulity.

I should think the Christian must keep abreast with the age. Charles Wesley expressed it well when he said,

To serve the present age,

My calling to fulfill.

There is no question: The day in which I live is different, and I must serve my generation well.

But listen! To serve our present age we must be personally acquainted with One who breaks the time barrier and knows no age limit. If we will serve our generation, and we must, then we must transcend the age. As Dr. Gossip continues: "There is no longer any room in the world for a merely external form of Christianity, based upon custom. The world is entering upon a period of catastrophe and crisis when we are being forced to take sides, and in which a higher and more intense spiritual life will be demanded of Christians."

But my own heart cries out within: How is this possible? Who is sufficient for these things? And then comes the answer: "... according to the power that worketh in us," for "we shall live with him by the power of God." This is that "inwardness" of the gospel. I must know God—vital, inwardly. It must become a personal revelation to my own heart—"Midst changing scenes, God; He is the same!"

God is the same—the Bible says from yesterday through tomorrow. And if this scope is not sufficiently broad, then He is the same from eternity to eternity. In other words, God never does change, whether men ride in wagons or satellites, for in Him is "no variableness, neither shadow of turning." But in a life of faith it is hard for many to make the transition from the past to the present. And if this is difficult, it is nearly impossible to look to the future with any measure of faith believing that the Holy One of Israel is still the same.

Now God is the same in that He still can be sinned against. He is the God of Samson, but He is the same. While Samson was trifling in his religious devotion, God was taking him more seriously than Samson realized. Simple, innocent, legitimate actions, if such they were, only prepared the way and conditioned Samson's heart for a moral tragedy. This man, chosen by Deity, sinned against his God. No one will assume that this was his original motive as he made those first journeys down to Timnath. Samson was not the first, however, for Father Adam had brought this awful plague upon the human race. How startling to realize that man, as small as he really is, not even the master of one world out of millions, can lift his puny little fist toward God and say, "No"! And the tragedy of it is, he can make it stick. This should not give a sense of power, however, but rather of awe; for God can be sinned against.

If this be so, then God is the same in that He still will punish the disobedient. He was the God of Ananias and Sapphira, but He is the same. Dr. Paul Rees suggests that God punished this couple, not so much for keeping back part as for "pretending to have given all." Whatever the reason, this couple knew they had allowed a double standard to come into their devotion. And because of this "misrepresentation" and sin, God visited them with what Dr. Rees calls "the shaft of God's judgment." And is this not always the case? The timetable may be different, but sin is still punishable by death. This is its wages; this is its returns, for God is still the same.

With no sense of doubt whatsoever we can be sure that God is the same in that He still answers by fire. He was the God of Elijah, but listen, He is still the same. He was the God of the "fiery disciples," but He has not changed. He would baptize His children afresh and anew with the "fiery Holy Ghost." His storehouse of fire has not been exhausted. His fuel is not wood, hay, or stubble, but is rather the yielded hearts of His children. Therefore His light can burn brightest only where there are hearts willing to "burn." Three continents were shaken and the Atlantic was leaped when the heart of one John Wesley was "strangely warmed." Oh, for warm, desperately warm hearts, sensitive only to the faint cry of a lost and bleeding world! Is it not true: the thing that brought us into existence will be the only thing that will keep us—fire upon the yielded hearts of God's people?

And so we find ourselves face to face with the God who is the same in that He still demands a holy life. He was the God of Peter, but He is the same. Now Peter was not just rehearsing some denominational terminology. He said, "It is written . . ."—and this man knew it had been because it had been written anew upon his own unworthy heart, "... Be ye holy; for I am holy." When the great "I Am" spoke and said, "I am holy," He was not only describing His nature, but He had forever opened the provisional fountain. He had completed the transition from God to man, and what a change this meant for man! He now describes not alone himself but the possibilities of what man can be. Peter here presents a staggering comparison, "As he is . . . so be ye." But man is a sinner, and man the sinner is doomed to die. But there is a postscript to that; nay, more than a postscript. The heart of the message is that man can live—he is not left to his own stragglings. We know we've made a mess of our lives, and what a blundering mess it is at times! What we need to know is that the Holy One can remake us. He can take the wicked, lewd, fleshly heart and so thoroughly transform it that it will be pure and holy and unblamable before Him. "Great is the mystery of godliness"; for God, even yet, demands holiness.

Now if this be true, and it is, then God is the same in that He still retains a high standard for Christian discipleship. Recently there appeared in print these lines: "... the usual snorts from the blinded puritans with their sectarian taboos"; and this man went on to say regarding the sin of fornication before marriage: "... the enforcement of an extremist chastity ethic before marriage . . . will one day be rejected and discarded universally in this country." Perhaps this same unregenerate mind would say that John the Baptist, Jesus the Christ, Paul the Apostle, and scores of others abjured with the same message of separateness from sin and holiness toward God were the originators of these so-called "puritan taboos."

For the Christian there must be some convictions—some restrictions, if you please. And by convictions we do not mean preconceived ideas hatched in the stagnant pools of men's minds. But let us not generalize. Too long have we toned down and softened over the high demands for discipleship which Jesus, our Lord, gives and which God the Holy Ghost revealed to the hearts of inspired writers. These apparently nonessential things might not prove to be quite so nonessential if they are instrumental in robbing my soul of its glory and power. And when I am robbed of this, the correctness of my doctrine will do little toward moving stubborn wills to the foot of the Cross.

When a man is able to recite the cold doctrine of an orthodox creed, void of that moral sensitiveness which only the Holy Ghost can give, he then becomes a hireling to the church and a laughingstock to the world. What good is a doctrine when stripped of its standard? If the devil cannot wreck us on the first count, can we be at ease in Zion as he employs a new method to disarm us? Let the world cry "taboos"; mine is a message commissioned by God, whose minutest details must be burned upon my own moral sensitivity. And to be spiritually shallow when I should be spiritually sensitive is but to admit I am weak.

Time has changed our surrounding scenery so swiftly that we feel smothered and exhausted. But breaking all time barriers, heaven thunders forth that God has not changed—neither in His essence nor in His demands. He is the same—midst changing scenes!

Your God Is Too Small!

By RON BORDEN

Are there problems to face, are there tasks to be done?
Is life a mad race which has to be run?
Are there mountains to climb, are there rivers to swim?

Battles to fight, campaigns to win?
Is your sun hid from view, is your day turned to night?

Are you wondering "just how"; are you trembling with fright?

Then stop! Listen! Give heed to my call: The trouble with you—your God is too small!
Yet this should not be, for great is His name;
Today or tomorrow, He's always the same!
Creator, Sustainer, Redeemer, and Friend!
He was in the beginning—will be in the end.
He majors on mountains; He guides through the water.

Why, the victory is certain when God is your Father!

His power is great, beyond all our dreams:
So—no problem is nearly so hard as it seems.
Don't liken Him, lessen Him, limit His power;
He stands by your side to help you this hour!

But keep this in mind—you are the key:
Your God is as big as you allow Him to be!
With Our Nazarenes in Italy

By A. F. HARPER, Editor in Chief, Sunday School Periodicals

An overnight train ride from Lucerne, Switzerland, brought us into Florence at 5:51 a.m. Sunday. Brother Alfredo Del Rosso, superintendent of our work in Italy, met us at the station and took us by taxi to our Nazarene property at Via Miccinessi N. 5 D (North 5 D Miccinessi Road).

Here we have a good location and a substantial new building. On the first floor are the sanctuary, pastor's study, and missionary apartment where the Morgans made their home. On the second floor is the apartment for the district superintendent. A garage at the rear of the church has been converted into neat and well-planned Sunday school rooms.

After a wonderful Italian breakfast we snatched a couple of hours of sleep to help make up for the overnight coach ride.

At ten o'clock we were up for our first visit to the Sunday schools of Italy. The shining faces, the eager interest, the enthusiastic singing of the children were all familiar to us—only the sound of the words was different.

They sang one of their songs to the tune of “Saviour, like a Shepherd Lead Us.” In response Mrs. Harper and I sang, and Brother Del Rosso translated for them:

Saviour, like a shepherd lead us;
Much we need Thy tender care.
In Thy pleasant pastures feed us;
For our use Thy folds prepare.
Blessed Jesus, Blessed Jesus,
Thou hast bought us, Thine we are.

We visited the primary class taught by Mario Gianchi. In the class were Alberto, Andres, Paolo, Jeremie, Antonio, Joile, Rebeca, Franca, and Daniele. Only four years ago the teacher, Mario, and his family were Roman Catholics. Today they attend the church, and Mario is in the Bible school preparing for the ministry in the Church of the Nazarene.

At eleven o'clock we enjoyed the ministry of the Italian pastor, Rev. Elia Milaza. He brought a clear, Spirit-anointed message on the scriptural teaching of “Two Remedies for Sin.” For the benefit of their two American guests, Brother Del Rosso translated into English while the pastor preached.

Since the Morgans furloughed to the United States, Brother Milaza has supplied the church in Florence. He, with his wife and family, has recently joined the Church of the Nazarene. Brother Milaza is a young man in his mid-thirties. He was converted from Catholicism at twenty years of age while a medical student in the university. Some time later he was sanctified wholly and called to preach. For some years he worked with the Salvation Army in Italy and more recently pastored an independent evangelical congregation.

We had originally not planned to arrive in Florence until 2:00 p.m., so I had been scheduled to preach Sunday evening. I spoke to a well-filled house at six o'clock, their usual evening service hour. I chose for my subject “The Beauty of Holiness.” Brother Del Rosso served as my translator. His command of the language and his boundless enthusiasm for the theme made up for all the deficiencies of the preacher. At the close of the message Brother Del Rosso gave an earnest exhortation. If one may judge by rapt attention and tears in the eyes of the people, the Holy Spirit applied the truth to the hearts of the hearers.

After the service it took three-quarters of an hour to bid our Italian Nazarenes good night. They lingered trying to understand our English and to convey their warm greetings in Italian phrases that they thought might penetrate our dull American minds. Despite the language barriers we got along well. Among Christian brethren the heart understands more than the mind comprehends.

When the last good night had been said we had supper with the Del Rossos and Pastor and Mrs. Milaza. At eleven o'clock we retired to await an early call to catch our train at six o'clock Monday morning. “And so we went toward Rome.”

As we approached the city my heart was warm and my mind turned to another traveler's experience with Italian Christians, “whom when Paul saw, he thanked God and took courage.” God is blessing our Italian Nazarenes as they lift high the banner of holiness in the land from which Paul wrote to Christians of the whole world, “This is the will of God, even your sanctification.”

Godliness Is Profitable

By CHARLES V. FAIRBAIRN, Bishop, Free Methodist Church

Many seem to regard the Christian life as unprofitable in every way. They seem to think it better that one sow a few oats, which, if not “wild,” are at least “not too tame.” They seem to think that sin is normal and unavoidable. We admit that sin is normal and unavoidable. We admit that sin is normal and unavoidable. We admit that sin is normal and unavoidable. We admit that sin is normal and unavoidable. We admit that sin is normal and unavoidable. We admit that sin is normal and unavoidable. We admit that sin is normal and unavoidable. We admit that sin is normal and unavoidable.

“Bedecked” according to his deeds.

Men through sin are without communion with God, and liable through following the desires of their own hearts to the pains of hell forever. Thank God! He did not leave mankind to perish in this estate of sin and misery, but has provided redemption whereby all men may be delivered from the guilt, the power, the pollution, the punishment of sin, and restored to the favor and image of God. What mercy! What divine love!

Yet men turn away from the gospel as though it were a handicap to be a Christian and more profitable to live as the slave of selfish desires. But certainly this is not so. For I hear Paul’s shout of gladness as he glimpses the possibility of complete victory: “Who will rescue me from this body of death?” God willing! Thanks be to Him through Jesus Christ, our Lord! And Paul’s reason for gladness is discoverable in his later statement: “But godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come.”

“Profitable unto all things”? Then if unto all things, it must profit a man physically to be a Christian. And it does. Think of the poison poured into the blood stream by the use of tobacco, drink, and dope. Think of the terrific strain placed upon the nervous system by the unholy excitements of what the world calls its pleasures. Isn’t a life of godliness and good living better than a life given over to the pursuit of such things? Bud Robinson’s remarkable recovery, as related in his hospital experience, was due to the fact that from the time that west Texas cowboy was converted he never again indulged in those sins in which he had formerly lived. For Uncle Buddy, godliness had indeed “the promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come.”

Morally it pays to live the life of a Christian. Men know that morality pays. So when a man achieves morality, even in a small degree, he prides himself on his accomplishment, boasts of it, and seems to think that God ought to admit him to heaven because of it. Morality alone will save no one, but that high plane of living indicated by the word “godliness” is the grandest morality possible. “The true man is not the sin-defiled, passion-colored, iniquity-warped man of the world, but the upright, pure-souled child of God.” His physical being is under the control of a pure mind; and his mind is pure because he is partaker of the holy influences shed abroad in his heart by the ever present Holy Spirit, maintaining helpful contact with the Father in heaven. “Godliness is profitable” indeed!

And “godliness is profitable” socially. The home is no stronger than the virtues which underlie it. Think, then, what it means to the home when “the fruit of the Spirit” (love, joy, peace) characterizes those who build that home and live there. Man’s sinfulness makes necessary jails, prisons, institutions for the criminally insane, and in the end hell—that eternal penitentiary of the universe. But godliness makes a man a blessing to all, in every way and everywhere he goes. "Godliness is profitable" in "the life that now is"!

Godliness offers no setback to truest and highest prosperity. Honesty in business, rock-ribbed integrity, and the endeavor which godliness inspires to practice the golden rule are all indeed profitable. If there were no Christianity, and no Christ to make Christianity possible, it would pay any pagan to practice the principles of Christianity. Profitable? Absolutely! "They that seek the Lord shall not want any good thing." But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus." "For the Lord God is a sun and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly."

And godliness is profitable mentally. Sinners have said to their friends: "Now, don't you go and get religion! It will take all the joy out of life! You will land in the madhouse if you do!"

But I want to submit this: The madhouses in this state are neither big enough nor numerous enough to hold those who would have gone there had they not found Jesus, the great Burden Bearer. Where lies the least tension? Where reigns the greatest peace? Where rejoices the highest gladness? In the mind obsessed with thoughts of "adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, . . . hatred, . . . wrath, strife, . . . envyings," and suchlike? Or in the mind which knows "love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance"? Verily, verily, "against such there is no law"—no law of God, no law of spirit, no law of mind, no law of body, no law of man!

And spiritually most certainly "godliness is

With Banners Flying

By C. B. STRANG

Pastor, First Church, Danville, Illinois

I am indebted to Dr. Harold Blake Walker for the following: "Satan counsels his emissary to be sure to keep with his patient at all times, especially in church. When in the church keep him aware of little things—of the fact that this usher is a hypocrite, that this man’s shoes squeak, that this lady’s hat does not fit properly. Never, never let him see the church with her banners flying for that is a sight at which all hell trembles."

Every pastor is acquainted with the fact that mere trifles are distracting in church services. Ordinary things seen in church assume amazing proportions of importance. It is more difficult for the pastor to hold attention if the custodian attempts to raise or lower a window. A child’s cry or incoherent prattle is all-absorbing in church. It does not take much to distract there. Surely Satan must have a hand in it!

The same principle carries over into other phases of church activity. The church’s business is soul saving, but if Satan can cause distraction he will do it. A little misunderstanding among the members is a great deterrent to progress. Magnification of nonessentials is a subtle policy of Satan’s. Nero fiddled while Rome burned. Today’s Neros never see impending or actual destruction because they are so busy grinding out the same old tune on misplaced emphases. The pussy cat who went to London to visit the queen lost sight of court splendor, so busy was she chasing a mouse under the queen’s chair.

The writer is a believer in the present and future of our church. He saw it when it was very young and he sees it now as it is growing up. He sees it with the eye of the prophet in its tomorrows. It looks even better when viewed that way. The writer is not unmindful of some weaknesses of the church. Its members are human and some do err, but he refuses to see these things out of proportion. We are not being ruined. There are some who leave us from time to time who claim the glory either has departed or is departing from us. Of course it isn’t true!

More souls are being saved and sanctified in the Church of the Nazarene than at any time since its organization. Evangelism is spreading farther. Missionary work is increasing. Our colleges are filled. God is calling more and more into the ministry. Our churches are growing. The quality of members and church edifices is inspiring. Our leadership is the finest. More money is being given, and the church is being blessed.

This is not the time to look for squeaky boots, topsy-turvy hats, or fleeing mice. Now is the time to see the church with banners waving.

Take the word of the writer for it—the banners yet wave!
profitable.” Salvation provides pardon for sin, deliverance from its dominion, cleansing from its defilement, and in final glorification full deliverance from every weakness inherited through the Fall. Saved from sin, unified within, outwardly harmonized with all the will of God, and one can sing:

Oh, glory be to Jesus!
Let the hallelujahs roll.
Help me ring my Saviour's praises far and wide.

For I've opened up tow'r'd heaven
All the windows of my soul,
And I'm living on the hallelujah side.

The blessings and benefits which we have mentioned are all enjoyed “in the life that now is.”

We have not touched that “life which is to come.” But if there were no heaven at the end of the road, the blessings of godliness would pay anyone to follow the way clear through to the end of the trail. But there is a heaven at the end of the road; for the scripture declares: “Wherefore is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city.”

Can you afford to miss that city? Can you afford to miss the blessings which come upon the godly along the road to that city? Honestly now, can you afford not to live for God? My friend, God bless you! “If it seem evil unto you to serve the Lord, choose you this day whom ye will serve: . . . but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord” (Joshua 24:15)!

From One of the “Old-timers”

Holiness and Moral Perception*

One of the myriad excellences and beauties of holiness is its power of clarifying the moral perception and enabling us to make distinctions which otherwise would not occur to us. The line of demarkation between right and wrong was never indistinct in itself, but was made clear by the Father from the first. The trouble has been that the devil has made it his business to blur and render it indistinct. He has found human nature in its fallen state a useful ally in this bad business. Even regenerate men are not as clear-eyed and discriminating as they need to be because of the confusing work of inbred sin. Regeneration is, of course, a vast help, but it is not a perfect corrective of this trouble for the reason mentioned. It requires holiness to clarify the moral vision and give us the power of moral discrimination necessary to withstand the refinements of the devil’s strategy.

The Sinner goes on doing many things, and never stops to ask whether they are right or wrong. Many of these things are promptly discovered to him to be wrong immediately upon his sound conversion. So with the sanctified, the presence of the Spirit within as the abiding Guest, and the increased refinement of vision gained by this intimacy with Him, will lead to the discarding of things which were not recognized as besetments before. There is an increased sensitiveness of conscience and an increased power of discernment of spiritual proprieties and helps and hindrances in the state of holiness which greatly enlarges the vision and the consequent agencies for productive service of the Christian.

This explains much of the misunderstanding of holiness people by sinners and even by some converted people. They often think holiness people are over-particular, and are straining at things. In reality, they are only exercising an increased power of discrimination which comes to those who pay the price for the Spirit’s presence and fulness of cleansing power. This possession of the whole church would wonderfully increase her power and free her of many besetments which now impede her work and hinder her march of conquest. This is the crying need of the church, and she can never reach her privileged influence and power until she has adopted this as heaven’s only program for the Bride of Christ.

The Holy Spirit within as our abiding and welcome Guest is not only a source of inexpressible pleasure and comfort and strength, but is illuminating in His power, enabling us to see more clearly the deeper beauty and meaning of Holy Scripture, and giving us a keener sensitiveness of moral perception and discriminating judgment.

His inward presence is a mighty help in prayer. No praying is in power and prevailing influence like the prayers of the Spirit-filled who pray in the Spirit, and wrestle until the answer comes. “Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what we should pray for as we ought; but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered” (Rom. 8:26).

*Editorial (Dr. B. F. Haynes), May 28, 1913, “Herald of Holiness.”
The Church of the Nazarene in Donelsonville, Georgia, is one of the historic churches in the denomination. Founded in 1902, it actually has a longer history than the Church of the Nazarene itself.

The Donelsonville church was an independent holiness church at the time of its founding in 1902. Later it became a part of the Holiness Church of Christ, and entered the Church of the Nazarene with that body. Dr. E. P. Ellyson was one of the early pastors.

When one attends services at the church, one is reminded of the historic past. A sign proclaims: "First Church of the Nazarene, founded 1902." In fact, this church is the "Mother" church of the tri-state area of Georgia, Alabama, and Florida. The building, though old, is sturdily built and commodious.

The uniqueness of the church is especially noted during the Sunday school period, when the Sunday school superintendent takes charge. (He is mayor of Donelsonville, Mr. Paul Shingler.) He and his assistant sit in two high-backed chairs placed in front of the communion table, inside the altar. It is not clear where this unique custom originated. Also, when the birthday offering for missions is taken, the money is dropped into a small figure of an old gentleman, seated—and every time a coin is dropped the old man nods his head as much as to say, "Yes, missions pay."

The entertainment of the evangelist afforded additional historic insights. According to Rev. George Privett, pastor, Mrs. Florence Shingler has entertained the evangelists for the last fifty years. The evangelist and his wife were accommodated in the front guest room in the old southern mansion. They were treated to the use of the old-time ornate furniture. The old fireplace had been closed up and replaced by a gas heater. But one could easily picture Dr. H. F. Reynolds as he might have stood by the fire in that same spot years before, throwing another stick of wood on the fire and thinking of conquests ahead.

Mrs. Florence Shingler told of one of the early district assemblies. One afternoon Dr. Reynolds announced that they would be closing early, as they planned to go out and look for some land for a college. From this beginning came the founding of Southeastern Nazarene College in Donelsonville, Georgia. This college was housed in a commodious building located a few blocks from the church, and built by some of the church’s most faithful members. From 1913 to 1918 Southeastern Nazarene College made a vital contribution to the training of future church workers. In 1918 it was amalgamated with Trevecca Nazarene College and the building was sold. It now houses the Donelsonville hospital, where Mrs. Privett, wife of the pastor, serves as head nurse.

The Donelsonville church is rich in its historic past. Many pastors and workers have come from this church. Yet it still plays an important part in present-day evangelism. Souls were saved in the revival. In addition, the pastor reports converts in the regular services. No doubt many will be found in heaven who will thank God for the Donelsonville Church of the Nazarene.

MOSES’ MIGHTY MEN
By Herschel H. Hobbs (Broadman, $2.50)

It is well for us always to remember that unusually successful men or women usually have those around them who contribute to their success, though perhaps they themselves are personally unknown. It was that way with Moses, the great lawgiver. This author points out, describes, and introduces you to what could be called the “lesser lights” who contributed to Moses’ everlasting greatness.

This is especially helpful to laymen to realize how they can fulfill their ministry, serve the Lord in places unsung and unpublicized, and realize that by serving in the church they are serving God—that any place of service is a blessing.

How SPIRITUAL Is Your TV?

By Mel Larson

This test is not intended to snipe at television or television viewers. Its basis is simply this: We as Christians must decide, regarding every invention, whether our use of it increases or decreases our devotion to Christ.

We must realize also that devotion to Christ cannot be measured by doing this or not doing that.

But what we do and what we do not do often are signposts of how we are in our minds and hearts.

Now go on with the test. Check the answers honestly. You’ll find your score at the end.

1. I have watched programs in my home which I would not go into a building outside of my home to watch. ( ) Yes. ( ) No.

2. After my children have gone to bed, I have watched programs I would not like to have them know I had seen. ( ) Yes. ( ) No.

3. I have scheduled committee or other meetings at the church on certain nights that would not conflict with my favorite TV programs. ( ) Yes. ( ) No.

4. TV programs have decreased my attendance at the midweek prayer services or other meetings of our church. ( ) Yes. ( ) No.

ANSWERS
Questions 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 13, and 14 should have been checked NO; questions 5, 6, 11 and 15 should have been checked YES.
For each correct answer, you deserve six points: If question 15 was one of those you answered properly, give yourself an additional 10 points.
Here's how you rate:
90-100—That antenna fits you like a halo.
80-90—Take this test again next month and see which way you're heading.
70-80—Your picture is sliding out of focus.
50-70—You need will power. But a padlock on the door of your TV set would help.
Under 50—Sell that TV set and don't quibble about the price.—The Congregational Methodist Messenger.

We Shall Shine as the Sun
By F. W. DAVIS
Someday in God's beautiful city
When our life's race on earth has been run,
And we enter the portals of glory,
We shall shine as the bright morning sun.
No shadows of night will o'ertake us
Where Jesus, our Lord, has control.
In His radiant likeness forever
We shall shine in that home of the soul.
Oh, the glory and heavenly splendor
Up there in that wonderful place,
Plus the smiles of His saints by the millions
That beam from each radiant face!
God help us each day to be faithful,
As we walk with our Saviour divine.
When we pass from this earth and its darkness,
In heaven forever we'll shine.

With Our PIONEERS
Another "grand old-timer" who is looking ahead to the Pilot Point, Texas, birthday anniversary of our denomination is Noble Jennings, of Brandon, Vermont.
Brother Jennings was born in 1876 and saved at the age of thirty. He has the most unusual record of having taught the adult Bible class in the same church for all of his Christian life—fifty-two years. He also served more than thirty years as the Sunday school superintendent.
This was in the Church of the Nazarene at Leicester, Vermont, an old brick church about 135 years old, where he is still teaching Sunday school.
In writing a greeting to the Fiftieth Anniversary Commission, Brother Jennings said: "I just want you folks to know that I still have the blessing and am absorbed in the Blesser! Am now eighty-two, and have zeal and ardor and lots of enthusiasm for our church and doctrine. I feel as if I could 'run through a troop' and leap 'over a wall!'"—Nazarene Information Service
“Remember the Sabbath Day, to Keep It Holy”

Early this year I read this news item: “The Denver Board of Realtors has voted to end the open house showing of homes on Sunday.” This is certainly a step in the right direction. It is to be hoped that other cities follow Denver’s example. One way to help other realtors come to the same decision is for Christian people everywhere to refuse to show their houses which are for sale on the Sabbath day. Another means for assisting this movement is to let real estate dealers know that you will not go house hunting on Sunday. No doubt there are plenty of people who will say, “That’s the only time we have the leisure for such as this.” That isn’t so. You know it, and I know it. You can find time to show your house on other days, and you can find time to look at a house that you might want to buy on a day other than Sunday. The writer has sold a few houses, and bought a few, and one rule he has followed is that he would not look at houses on Sunday nor show his house, or let it be shown, on Sunday.

It takes a little backbone in this day and age to live the Christian life. If some of us aren’t willing to take a stand, it won’t be long until we’ll have no Sabbath, church, or Christianity.

A man was working for us; he didn’t finish his job, so he said he would come back the next day, which was Sunday. He was informed that we didn’t hire people to work on our yard on Sunday. Most of the families around us didn’t hesitate to get out and work in their yards on Sunday or hire someone to do it. This man had worked for some of these families, and he put us in the same class with them. However he learned different.

“Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy.” Only a few days ago reliable information came to me that a supposedly good, saved, and sanctified Nazarene didn’t hesitate to buy his groceries on Sunday. He could have done it on Saturday or else waited until Monday. The writer has known of some Nazarenes just like this man; perhaps you’ve been acquainted with some also. No doubt these cases are exceptions. Nevertheless we must remember that buying groceries on Sunday isn’t keeping the Sabbath. Someone may say, “What if company comes in and we run short on something we need? What if an emergency arises—we’ve forgotten to buy on Saturday, or something of that kind? What are we to do?” Do without. That’s the way they did when I was growing up. My father wasn’t a preacher, neither was my mother. They were, you might say, just ordinary Christians, but they believed in keeping the Sabbath holy. We ate what we had—we didn’t buy on Sunday. Besides, it should be added that we have better ways of keeping emergency supplies on hand now than ever before.

“Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy.” We can’t expect the world to respect the Sabbath day if we don’t respect it.
THE PHILIPPIAN JAILER—"My Most Memorable Night!"

I was the jailer at Philippi (Acts 16). I knew what it was to shove men into their cells and lock them up: some for little crimes and some for big ones, and some for no crime at all. Many of those brought to me had been beaten, and all had been mocked and cursed.

This time two were turned over to me whose names were Paul and Silas. They were strangers—I had never heard of them before. As nearly as I could get the facts, these men had freed a girl from a spirit of divination. She had been the slave of men who were using her soothsaying power to make money. All they wanted was cash; they cared nothing for the girl. Her masters became very angry when they "saw that the hope of their gains was gone." They caught Paul and Silas, so I was told, "and drew them into the marketplace unto the rulers." Here they brought their complaints against them as troublemakers. They were able, by their accusations, to stir up a mob, and the magistrates turned this angry and confused group upon these two helpless men "and commanded to beat them." Then they sent the two men to me, with orders to "keep them safely," so I "thrust them into the inner prison, and made their feet fast in the stocks." I lived on cruelty—I liked to see men suffer. I knew only too well what terrible pain these men, Paul and Silas, would experience in this inner prison with their feet fast in the stocks: but what did I care?

At midnight, in spite of the beating they had received and the suffering they had endured since they had been thrust into the prison, these two men prayed, and sang praises to their God. I was greatly astonished, and so were the other prisoners. Never had anything like this happened before in that prison. I had seen hundreds of people thrust into it, many of them by my own hands, but not before had any of them ever started a prayer meeting.

Before the praying and singing had gone on very long, there was an earthquake. Fear and confusion reigned everywhere. In the midst of all this I was suddenly awakened, and seeing the prison doors open, I drew out my sword and prepared to kill myself. I well knew that my life would be required for the prisoners who had escaped. I had been a strong man and had paid little attention to suffering and death, but never before had I faced this enemy myself. I was panic-stricken; I preferred to kill myself rather than to die at the hands of others.

Even while I was shaking with fear and all but in the act of committing suicide, the elder of these two prisoners, the leader, cried out with a loud voice: "Do thyself no harm: for we are all here." Then I called for a light, "and sprang in, and came trembling, and fell down before Paul and Silas." What happened next? I cried out for help. I was convinced that these men were able to help me and I said to them, "What must I do to be saved?"

I hardly knew what I was saying; I was not sure exactly what I meant—whether it was the physical man I was begging rescue for or the "inner" man. This much I do know, however, those men upon whom I called for help, Paul and Silas, said: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house." More than that, they told me about this Christ, about the Cross, about how Jesus Christ could change me and make me a different man. They knew what this Christ had meant to them, and they passed the good news on to me. I began to see the fight, a new day dawned for me, I became a different man—I felt differently, I thought differently, I was different!

Then I took these two men "the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes," the wounds they had received. And soon all the members of my family were rejoicing with me in this newfound faith which we had. I did believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and I "was baptized" and all my house—we were now living in a new world.

It was the night when my night—the darkness of my soul—was turned into day. It was the night when I found faith in the true and living God, when I came to possess new hope, when I began to live a new life. The night that these strange men were brought to me and I locked them up, the night of the earthquake, became for me a night of joy, of transformation, of the new birth, of a new insight. It was my most memorable night!
The Christian's Personal Preparation

Golden Text: They that sow in tears shall reap in joy. He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him (Psalms 126:5-6).

The Sunday school lessons of this quarter are devoted to a study of the evangelistic task of the Church, this lesson, "The Christian's Personal Preparation," deals with the spiritual factors necessary to the winning of souls and the building of the kingdom of God.

Take a look at the areas of need: your prayer life, your compassion for souls, your sense of the divine urgency to win the lost, your acceptance of His resources, and the imperative of a Spirit-filled, sanctified life. And, as you consider them in personal application, remember these are all facets of the whole—a life in whom Christ lives and through whom His Spirit flows to a perishing world.

It is always easier to seek escape from responsibility than to resolutely accept it. But every effective soul winner must face certain questions honestly:

1. Am I willing to examine my desire for soul winning? If I rest content, then even the Spirit of Truth cannot pierce my shell of complacency.
2. Am I willing to humble myself and truthfully acknowledge my need for personal improvement?
3. Am I willing to accept full responsibility for any personal weaknesses, refusing to blame either circumstances or people?
4. Am I willing to receive prayerfully the divine provision for every area of need, and match His grace with personal discipline?

There is no need to struggle with the paralyzing problems of inner fear and a sense of inadequacy. To say, "I can't, and, "I'm afraid to try," is an expression of doubt, not of faith. Let us go a step further and say, "I can do all things through Christ." The issue becomes confusing when we break our problem into many segments. Really, the problem is this: Am I willing to let my life be a true expression of the Spirit of Christ? He is the Spirit of prayer, the Spirit of compassion, the Spirit of urgency, the Spirit of authority, and the Spirit of power.

At every moment of my life I will choose to be a true demonstration of the Spirit of Christ, who died that others might live.

Missionaries on the Move

Rev. and Mrs. John Anderson, who are home on furlough from India, are making their home at 292 E. Burke Street, Bourbonnais, Illinois.

Rev. and Mrs. Douglas Alexander left for their first term of service in Swaziland, on May 29, 1958. Their address will be: Box 3, Stegi, Swaziland, South Africa.

Rev. and Mrs. Louis Ragains left for their third term of service in Nicaragua June 2, 1958. Their address will be: Managua, Nicaragua, Central America.

Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Harmon left for their second term in Trinidad on June 13, 1958. Their address will be: Box 414, Port of Spain, Trinidad, British West Indies.

Rev. and Mrs. Harry Zurcher left for Puerto Rico June 17. Their temporary address will be: c/o Rev. Lyle Prescott, Calle Burage 117, Santurce, Puerto Rico.

Coming

After July 1, Miss Esther CRAIN will be at 8932 So. Hermitage, Chicago 20, Illinois, c/o Whitley.

Letter from Mrs. Ray Miller, Formosa April 5, 1958

Dr. Benner's visit to us was such a blessing and uplift. We feel encouraged to "take the land." Prospects are wonderful if our strength can hold out. Holsteads are doing full-time language study and working very hard at it. We are carrying a pretty heavy load until they can ease off a bit, but we love it, and thank God that up to now strength has been given. At present both Mrs. Holstead and our Heather have chicken pox. It seems to be a pretty virulent type and they are really laid up and altogether miserable. My husband had mumps to wind up Dr. Benner's visit here. Second childhood maybe?

We had a glorious Easter season. The Lord was present so manifestly in the services. How we praise Him! This season I have had the privilege of telling the story of the Cross to many for the first time in their lives. What a thrill it has been! The Christless multitudes here are astounding. They simply haven't heard.

Mr. Holstead has just passed his first year language exams. Mrs. Holstead will need a little more time. I am taking a little language work, but my husband's time for it. It is amazing how he is picking it up though—and Heather amazes us all. She just seems to know it.

We surely covet your prayers. Please encourage the folk to keep sending used clothing. It is so important and so greatly needed here. And it has done much to help us gain recognition by the government officials.

There is much opposition to the Christian gospel, many adversaries, and battles, but we are trusting God to lead us on to victory.—RUTH MILLER, FORMOSA.

Back in India

We have been very busy since arriving here: preaching, visiting, meeting with church groups and leaders, and touring the district. Mrs. Carter was assigned the task of district Sunday school adviser and I am adviser for the district young people's work. Recently I have been assigned with the district's work, and I have been in charge of an Indian elder, Brother Sunwarik Giawaid. We have been making plans for opening the Bible school in July. Twelve applications have been received.—CLARENCE CARTER, India.

In the Compounds, Africa

By PAUL HETTRICK, Transvaal

The Lord is blessing in the compound work. You recall a few months ago we requested you to help us pray that the Lord would give us at least 150 new converts from among the heathen men in the compounds. At a recent workers' meeting held in April we then reported that late there have been 153 heathen conversions. Our leaders from the Orange Free State were unable to be present, so we have not yet received their reports. This 153 does not include all who repented, but primarily those who have expressed their desire to become Nazarenes. Many of them have already left the heathen quarters in the compounds and have moved in with our Christian men. Others desire to do so, but their heathen overseer in the compound will not allow them to move into the Christian rooms.

Please pray for these new converts.
Words of Appreciation:

“I do enjoy every one of your books and papers. They are a blessing to me, and my family as well.

“My wife has been a member of the Church of the Nazarene eight years, and our three children have been dedicated to the Lord. I thank God that He has saved me, and kept me safe as I fly so much of the time. I always put myself and the plane in His hands and He guides us safely home. I know someday He’ll pilot His chosen people home. Please pray for me and my family, that we will be in that number. Keep the good books coming, as I still have twelve more years to go in service. As soon as we finish with them, we pass them on to another family, and pray they will be a great blessing to them as well.”—S/Sgt. ROBERT B. COOPER.

From Alaska

“We would like to express our appreciation to you and the general church for sending the periodicals to us during these past four years. They have kept us in touch with the news of our churches in the States, given us a report of our missionaries around the world. Conquest has been a wonderful blessing to both of us, and Come Ye Apart is the best daily devotional readings one can find anywhere. In your sending them to us, we have made it a point to place a subscription for them in the name of some local family who doesn’t receive them. Thank you again for the splendid work our church is doing in keeping in touch with the servicemen.”—M/Sgt. and MRS. F. J. HAMRICK.

Going to Germany

“We are writing this letter to thank you for the Nazarene periodicals which we have received and enjoyed so very much. We have been stationed in two different locations and your services helped us find a Nazarene church home each time. Soon we are to leave the States and will be in Germany for three years. We know of the Nazarene work recently begun there and our earnest prayers are that we may be able to have contact with fellow Nazarenes during our tour in Germany.”—S/Sgt. and MRS. B. D. JONES.

Thanks

“I have enjoyed the literature very much that you have sent me. I’ve received much help, encouragement, and blessing from each one. I have found it very difficult to stop reading a paper when I start it. Each of these periodicals has helped me to grow stronger for the Lord.”—PFC. DUANE W. GARDNER.

tion with the churches the Society’s programs of fund raising are carried forward in accordance with denominational rules. It submits its budget to the Advisory Council each year. Yet the churches of the United States in 1957 provided less than one-third of the total support of the American Bible Society. Here is one of the great challenges before the churches of the United States today. Will they heed the call of the Bible?

Kenai, Alaska

Mr. Bill Berry is making a very good president. The group finished the book preparing us for the new programs that began in January. The average attendance has been eighteen. Prayer is requested for this group, for most of them are recently converted to Christ and need special help.

PALS

Our PALS have been organized for three months. We had practically no teen-agers in our church before, and the ones we did have took the resentful attitude that they came only because their parents forced them.

We now have a growing group. In a revival meeting just closed, our PALS attended as a group for ten days. We have recently seen fifteen teen-agers bow at the altar for spiritual help.

Thought for the Day

"There Is an Absolute" or
What to Do with Convictions

Monday:

"No absolute right and wrong," they tell us today. "No fixed standards; everything in the field of conscience is relative. What a person considers sin depends on where, how, by whom he was brought up." If this is today's word for us, something is wrong with "today," for it is a flabby personality that is possessed by no convictions.

The "absolute" for us is not "what our fathers said," but why they said it, the principle back of the prohibition. The over-all rule: Never give up a conviction unless you have replaced it by a stronger, deeper conviction: that is, have found the principle back of the practice and discovered a practice which will express more truly the principle. Jesus in the Sermon on the Mount was showing us how. (Matthew 5:17-20.)

Tuesday:

"There is an Absolute": the eternal I AM, defining complete definition, himself the never-changing Standard by which to frame all lesser definitions. There is an absolute: the character of God. "Ye shall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy." "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." Any act or thought at variance with the God whose basic name is Love, tried by that standard, is recognized as wrong. And conversely, any action which confounds us as our opportunity to express His sort of love, consciously refused, separates from God, and to that extent marks itself sin. (Leviticus 19:2; Matthew 5:48.)

Wednesday:

There is an absolute: "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today, and for ever." The exact image of God's person. He came to live before us the nature of good, to explain to us how to translate God's will into concrete terms. He gave us the principles for measuring conduct. "Not of the world, even as I am not of the world." "Heaven and earth shall pass away: but . . ." not My word. "It shall judge him (you) in the last day." (Hebrews 13:8; John 17:14; Mark 13:31; John 12:48.)

Thursday:

There is an absolute: the revealed moral law, phrased in terms of the Decalogue, rephrased by Jesus Christ in terms of the two great commandments. However blithely a school system may outlaw the reading of these as "discriminatory practice," they will return with vengeance in the form of juvenile delinquency and gangsterism.

They cannot be outlawed; they are written deep in the nature of man's social relationships. (Deuteronomy 6:24; 8:19.)

Friday:

There is an absolute: the first great command. "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart;" "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." No idea, then no bowing down to self and its wishes, no preference of material prosperity to warfare of the spirit. God taken seriously, then a place kept wide open for intake from above. Much "relativity" is settled by this test. (Exodus 20:13; 5:7; Mark 12:29-30.)

Saturday:

There is an absolute: the second "great"—"Thy neighbour as thyself." His personality respected, his property safeguarded, his prosperity considered, his reputation protected—and not from a sour sense of duty. Divine love supplied will make you "breathe the commandments" as second nature. (Exodus 20:12-17; Mark 12:31.)

Sunday:

There is an absolute; the Holy Spirit himself will re-create the standard absolute in you (on a small scale). His inwrought Presence will make you more sensitive to sin, more alive to the good, as the tiny insect sends out feelers. "Restrictions" no longer make Sabbathkeeping dull; love for Christ rejoices to honor Him on His first day of a resurrection week. Jesus "Don't worry" is activated by full trust in a Father made real. "Don't judge." "Don't covet" become happy privilege when you really love.

Of course asks not, "Must I give?" but, "May I sacrifice?" Here is the absolute for practical purposes. (Matthew 6:31-32; 7:1; 1 John 4:11; Romans 13:8-10.)

NEWS of the Churches

Rev. Troy C. Potts writes: "This past year has been one of the best of our ministry as we have served the good people of Tatum, New Mexico, to the best of our ability. God helped us to have a 33 per cent increase in church membership, and to build six Sunday school rooms as well as to completely remodel the auditorium. Under the leadership of the Holy Spirit we feel we must re-enter the work of full-time evangelism after our assembly in June. I am now making up my slate for this year and on through next year; will go anywhere for entertainment and freewill offerings. Write me, 808 N. Asbury, Bethany, Oklahoma.

Severy, Kansas—On May 4 we closed a good revival with Evangelist T. T. Liddell. We greatly appreciated his powerful and Spirit-anointed messages. The church was filled for each service, with more than fifty souls seeking God for forgiveness and entire sanctification. All those who attended the services were drawn closer to God by the wonderful messages and teaching on faith, grace, and power. We thank God for sending Brother Liddell our way. The revival fire continues to burn in our midst. We also thank God for our fine new pastor, Rev. C. F. Neiderhiser, and his family. We give God praise for His blessings and for answered prayer.—Mrs. HAZEL THOMPSON, Secretary.

Rev. Charles D. Mosher writes: "After serving five years in the pastorate, I feel that the Lord has called me into the evangelistic field, and I shall be glad to go anywhere as the Lord may direct. Write me, 12708 Shaw Avenue, Cleveland 8, Ohio."

New Brighton, Pennsylvania—In May our church had a glorious revival with Evangelist T. T. Liddell. We greatly appreciated his powerful and Spirit-anointed messages. The church was filled for each service, with more than fifty souls seeking God for forgiveness and entire sanctification. All those who attended the services were drawn closer to God by the wonderful messages and teaching on faith, grace, and power. We thank God for sending Brother Liddell our way. The revival fire continues to burn in our midst. We also thank God for our fine new pastor, Rev. C. F. Neiderhiser, and his family. We give God praise for His blessings and for answered prayer.—Mrs. HAZEL THOMPSON, Secretary.

Speedway, Indiana—God is blessing our church in a marvelous way. Recently we had a wonderful revival with Evangelist Kenneth Ridlen and Kenneth and Geneva Ashby, singers. God blessed and gave fifty-one seekers a three-year recall, and we feel fortunate indeed to pastor this wonderful people.—Rev. H. CHANDLER, Pastor.

Evangelist John W. Harrold writes: "At the close of another assembly year I am happy to report that this has been a wonderful year in the work of the Lord. I have had the privilege of working with some of our finest pastors and people. I am glad today for the blood of Jesus Christ that cleanses from all sin. I am grateful to God and the people for the full slate I have for the year ahead. I have a few open dates left for 1959. Write me, Box 309, Red Key, Indiana."

JULY 9, 1958 • (477) 17
La Grange, Georgia—In May we had the greatest revival in the history of this church; good attendance each night, with more than fifty seekers at the altar. A fine class of members was added to the church. Rev. R. L. Pitts of Columbus was the evangelist. Since Rev. Bill Bohnan of North Manchester, Indiana, has been pastor, the church has grown in every department. We are now in our beautiful new church building, with a choice lot in a good section of the city. We have seen twenty-one new members added to the church, and our finances are coming in fine. We thank God for His blessings.—Pastor.

Grand Ronde, Oregon—On May 4 our church closed an outstanding revival with Evangelist Norvic Criff. The church was filled to capacity nearly every night by fifty new people attending the services. Over one hundred people sought God for salvation, rehabilitation, and entire sanctification. Brother Criff preached with the anointing of the Holy Spirit, and many adults converted for the first time. For some while new families were won to the Lord. Our people carried a real burden for the meeting, with prayer, fasting, and visitation evangelism. The church is united and going forward. A new pastor has been given an increase in salary, and we plan to build a new sanctuary soon to house our growing congregation.—Dewey A. Johnston, Pastor.

Arlington, Oregon—Recently we enjoyed a good, Spirit-filled revival with Rev. and Mrs. Paul R. Weaver as the evangelists. A number of people sought and found the Lord, and some good members were added to the church. We have had a good year in the church here. Recently the church gave us a munificent call for three years. We thank God for His blessings.—R. E. Berkey, Pastor.

North Little Rock, Arkansas—First Church has recently enjoyed a glorious revival. Through the Spirit-aided messages of Bro. Bill Bohnan, Evangelist, Crabtree, the splendid singing of the choir, and the earnest prayers of the people, God honored with more than seventy people at the altar seeking God for pardon and heart cleansing. It was an old-time Nazarene revival with shouts of victory and praise and Holy Ghost conviction. New people were reached for God and the revival spirit continues. A number of converts by a special call of new members was received on prostration of faith, bringing to twenty-nine the new members for this assembly year. Night after night during the meeting the sanctuary was well filled, with more than 150 visitors attending the services in the twelve days. North Little Rock Church is moving ahead in an aggressive program of soul-winning, cooperating with district and general church plans. The Sunday school enrollment has increased one hundred since January 1—a new high of over 700, with an attendance of 626 on Easter. The church is giving more than 10 per cent to world evangelism.—Earl Darden, Pastor.

Evangelist Marvin J. Jones writes: "Since the first of the year I have been very busy in revival meetings in Florida, Ohio, and Indiana. During May I was at Edinburgh and in a holiness convention at Southside Church, Fort Wayne, Indiana. Have conducted ten two-week revival meetings and have established a new church in that area. I have enjoyed my work with our pastors and people. I will be in Florida next winter and have an open date, February 18 to March 1, which I'd be glad to slate with some church in that area. I'm planning to tour the north the first of the year and hope to establish another church in the north. I wish you all God's richest blessings in all your efforts for this message. Write me, 110 N. Colorado Avenue, Indianapolis, Indiana."

Paulding, Ohio—We are grateful for God's blessings. Easter Sunday brought a record breaking day in Sunday school with 254 present (more than one-third the population of the county scattered throughout the state), setting a new record attendance. After having served here four and one-half years, the church recently extended to us a fine recall vote. With the co-operation of our good people we have made a number of building improvements, and on June 8 we had a special mortgage-burning service liquidating the ten-year building loan, with District Superintendent Albee in charge. Also on that day we celebrated the fiftieth anniversary for this church.—Virgil H. Faw, Pastor.

Eight churches of the greater Fort Worth (Texas) area sponsored a city-wide holiness convention, May 9 to 11, at Northside Church, with Dr. D. J. Vanderpool as the special worker. We were privileged to have District Superintendent Orville W. Jenkins and wife in all the services. Rev. James Robertson served as chairman. Churches and pastors participating were—Arlington, James Robertson; Fort Worth, Jesse Smart; Grapevine, Glen Park, J. C. Holman; Northside, H. B. Dean; Polytchnic, J. B. Bickford; River Oaks, C. R. McCall; White Settlement, Leroy Land, and Arlington Heights, W. C. Dickerman. Dr. Vanderpool's rich messages were a soul feast to Fort Worth Nazarenes, and shouts of victory were heard as many souls prayed through for forgiveness and heart purity. Ministers and laymen were deeply impressed with the sense of oneness and fellowship. The people were blessed by a number of selections rendered by a combined choir, with people from all the churches, led by Brother Bill Bohnan, choir director at First Church.—C. B. Dickerman, Secretary.

Morristown, Indiana—Our church is continuing to make progress under the able leadership of Rev. Kenneth T. Jewell who, on May 18, was given the best man's blessing; Rev. Robert Spurlock was installed for his second year. For the same service, thirteen hundred dollars was pledged to clear the indebtedness on a recent remodeling project which adds much to the value and utility of the church.—Mrs. Jody Carmony, Secretary.

District Church Schools Convention

The Washington Pacific District Church Schools Convention was held at Tacoma First Church, on Wednesday and Thursday, May 7, with Rev. Thainie Sanford, district chairman, presiding. The theme was "Now Is the Time." Reports for the Sunday schools were presented by Zone Chairman Morris Chalfant, Donald Beecher, Paul Wordsworth, and Margaret Zink. The reports of the district directors and the district chairman showed a year of wonderful progress, with an attendance increase of 391, and enrollment increase of 1,145.

"Teach More, Teach Better" was introduced by a men's trio—Rev. William Anderson, Woodrow Morgan, and Edgar Kincaid. The Kent Caravan choir sang in full Caravan uniform. District Superintendent Seals brought a challenging message.

The following goals were "Setting the Alarm" in the "Count Down" closing the convention: Reach More—500 increase in attendance; 1,500 increase in enrollment; visitation in every church; a home department in every church. Teach More—2 Christian Service Training classes in every church; 50 vacation Bible schools in our fiftieth anniversary year. No More—No more duplication of work in every church, 50 per cent of active Sunday school members participating. "Every Family Win a Family.”

The convention adjourned to a banquet at a downtown hotel where awards were presented for theakan for the greatest gains in attendance and enrollment in the spring Sunday school push, and also awards earned in the Achievement Program. At the close of the banquet Dr. Samuel Young spoke to the Sunday school workers.

At the evening service, Mr. Fowler, of the Puyallup Sunday school, was presented an award as being chosen "teacher of the year." The convention closed with an inspiring message by Dr. Young.—Edgar A. Kincaid, Reporter.

Ames, Iowa—In May we had a very fruitful revival under the very fine preaching of Rev. Harold Willis. Each service was a real blessing, and many people gave up their lives to the Lord. A lot of prayer. During the past two years our church has gone forward under the leadership of Pastor R. V. Schultz. Thirty-eight new members have been added to the church, and the Sunday school and other departments have grown accordingly. Real harmony prevails among the people, and God is blessing in all the services.—Lucille Phin, Reporter.

North Manchester, Indiana—This spring our church had its third revival with Evangelist E. D. Wolfe. The church was blessed by his Spirit-filled messages and Bible preaching. On the last Sunday morning God's presence was manifested in a real and definite way giving the old-time power. Our pastor was given a ten-dollar-per-week increase in salary. We will go to the assembly with all budgets paid in full, and the work is moving ahead under the leadership of Pastor Fay A. Fouse.—Mrs. Roydin Pressler, Secretary.
Abilene District Assembly

The fifteenth annual assembly of the Abilene District was held May 7 to 9, at Fort Worth First Church, with Rev. W. J. Benson as host pastor. This was the "Golden Anniversary" of our district as well as the denomination. Fifty years! This entire district comprised all of west Texas and New Mexico; now it comprises the northwest quarter of Texas.

General Superintendent D. J. Vanderpost stirred our hearts with his unique and inspiring message. A spirit of harmony and aggressiveness prevailed.

Dr. Orville W. Jenkins brought his ninth report as district superintendent, and began his second year of a three-year term of service. Dr. and Mrs. Jenkins were never more loved and respected on the district than today.

The N.Y.P.S. convention re-elected Rev. William Dorrough as district president with an overwhelming vote, and Mrs. Orville Jenkins was re-elected as the district N.F.M.S. president with a nearly unanimous vote.

With an increase of 106, the membership of the district now stands at 5,016; average Sunday school attendance, 5,561; and enrollment stands at 9,239, an increase of 1,110.

A new church was organized at Fritch, out of a branch Sunday school started by Rev. Amos McAdoo and the Roberts church. The Borger church has since started a branch Sunday school at Stinnett with the prospect of organizing there. Property has been purchased for new churches in Wichita Falls and Hurst with a location donated in Lubbock by M. K. Bingham.

Sixteen churches reached the "10 per cent" goal for missions, while the entire district gave 8.5 per cent. Eleven churches had reached their quota of new Nazarenes and received Evangelistic Honor certificates.

The ministry of Mrs. Louise Chap- man, general president, and Rev. Harold Hampton, missionary, at the N.F.M.S. convention was much appreciated. Rev. Mrs. Emma Irick brought a stirring Sunday school message.

Bethany Nazarene College was ably represented by President R. H. Cantrell, Rev. Octavey by Rev. Gene Roberts, Nazarene Ministers Benevolent Fund by Rev. Dean Wessels, and the Nazarene Publishing House by Dr. Erwin G. Ben- son. Among the visitors we were glad to have District Superintendents Paul G. Godshalk from Canadian District, and W. L. French.—C. B. DICKERMAN, Reporter.

Washington Pacific District Assembly

The fifteenth annual assembly of the Washington Pacific District, May 8 and 9, at Tacoma First Church, will live on because of the decisive actions taken and the memorable times of blessing and victory.

The divinely anointed addresses of Dr. Samuel Young will bear fruit in all our lives. The individually given report of District Superintendent B. V. Seals will not be forgotten. The net gains of Sunday school enrolment—1145 in church membership, 1,145 in Sunday school enrollment—represent souls whose influence will multiply on and on, and whose value knows no measure. The action taken to achieve "10 per cent" giving for missions will reach to the ends of the earth and time.

The N.F.M.S. convention preceded the assembly. Dr. Remiss Rechfield, executive secretary of the Department of Foreign Missions, and Rev. Earl Morgan, missionary from Italy, were the special speakers; their messages were inspiring and enthusing, and, "Advance till the World Knows," was vividly set forth in the presentation of missionaries, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Springer, and a service of consecration.

Dr. John E. Riley, president, reported an excellent move with Northwest Nazarene College, and also presented plans for expansion. Rev. Bert Daniels, superintendent of the Canada Pacific District, brought a stirring home mission message on Thursday evening.

Delegates and visitors to the assembly were graciously provided for by Pastor Virgil Grover and the entertaining church.

We are sure the God who gave such victories as reported, and who honored the sessions of the assembly and conventions with such gracious outpourings of blessing and inspiration, will implement our efforts with His endurance in this fifth twenty-year anniversary year.—THAIN E. SANFORD, Reporter.

Arizona District

N.Y.P.S. Convention

The thirty-third annual convention of the Arizona District N.Y.P.S. met in an air of fellowship and inspiration. With a membership of 769, an average Sunday school attendance of 501, and an enrollment of 928, we had a record year.

Nineteen churches reached the "10 per cent" goal for missions, and with an increase of one church and one mission, the district is now in a strong position for the future. We are looking forward to a great year of growth and progress.

The convention was held May 17 to 19, at Phoenix First Church, with Rev. Robert L. Martin as chairman.

The convention was well attended, with a fine showing from all parts of the state. There were many fine addresses during the session, and the closing service was a fine one.

We are looking forward to a great year of growth and progress in the Arizona District N.Y.P.S. and we are sure that our Lord will bless us as we work together to bring God's message to the people of Arizona.

Kenosha, Wisconsin—In our recent revival with Evangelist John W. Harrold, new friends were made for the church, the membership increased, and hearts blessed and inspired by the sound preaching of this good evangelist. We have looked forward to a return, but in the spring of '58, Sunday afternoon, April 27, was a high day for our Nazarenes. With Dr. C. A. Gibson officiating, assisted by District Superintendent D. J. Gibson, a five-thousand-dollar, ten-year mortgage on our church property spread over seven years before due date! We are coming to the close of another assembly year with an increase in all departments, budgets cared for, and we will again be strong for another "10 per cent" in the coming year. Sunday school record was broken twice this year with a high of 166. We came to this church sixteen years ago when there were seven members, and on April 20 this year we were given a three-year unanimous recall with a fine appropriation offering. We thank God for this splendid, sacrificial, united people.—LOTTIE M. RYNEARSON, Pastor.

Hawaii District

These are wonderful days of progress for our work in Hawaii. Dr. Hugh Garrett gave us an inspiring lift at our district assembly, March 20 and 21. His timely messages were a real challenge.

The report of our district superintendent, Rev. Cecil Knippers, revealed a gain of 22 in district membership; 108 in Sunday school enrollment, and 47 in Sunday school average attendance, with an increase of $32,000 in property evaluation. A new church was organized in Hanapepe on the island of Kauai. This gives us now organized churches on four of the Hawaiian Islands; a total of eight organized churches, one mission, and four branch Sunday schools. Eighteen new members have been received in our churches since our district assembly in March.

We have been in an intensive program of evangelism this year and have scheduled our churches for this summer and fall with some of our outstanding evangelists.

Our Easter offering and attendance was a record by a large margin. Rev. Cecil Knippers is serving his seventh year as district superintendent of Hawaii, with two more years on a unanimous three-year call.—PAUL W. SCHMIDT, District Secretary.

Evangelists Jack and Ruby Carter write: "We will be closing a revival meeting in Kansas City, Missouri, on November 9; then have an open date, November 13 to 23, which we'd be glad to slate with any church needing our services as preacher and singers. Also, we have an open date, August 21 to $1, which we'd like to slate in New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, or Kansas, since we will be in a revival in Clovis, New Mexico, September 9 to 14. Write us, 609 N. Mueller Street, Bethany, Oklahoma."
Regional Church Schools Convention
Canada West

The recent regional church schools convention in First Church, Calgary, Alberta, sponsored by the Department of Church Schools, was a thrilling success as measured by the comments of people from all over the Canada West District. Pastors, church school teachers and their people gathered from all parts of the Prairie Provinces, from the Peace River District, (500 miles north of Calgary), from Brandon, Manitoba (800 miles east), and at the commodius auditorium of Calgary First Church was filled to capacity. The consensus was that never has a church given its people so much and of such quality in tools and methods with which to accomplish the task that is ours in reaching the unchurched.

From the keynote address, given by Dr. Edward Lawlor, district superintendent, it was firmly fixed in our minds that the Church Schools Department has demonstrated that its quadrennial theme, "By All Means Save Some," was not an increase of 420 over last year; Sunday school enrolment was increased 1,891 for a total of 15,744. The Home Mission Board now stands at 7,993, an increase of 326. The average Sunday school attendance was 9,911, an increase of 26.

The total giving of the district was $1,233,925; the per capita giving was $134; total giving to missions was $107,919; and $83,000 was pledged to Pasadena College for its expansion. Membership of the district now stands at 7,993, an increase of 326. The average Sunday school attendance was 9,911, an increase of 26.

Rev. Munroe Burkhart writes: "We are not satisfied with our church, First's Branch, in Dallas, Texas. It is a rapidly-growing section of the city, with hundreds of new homes being built. We are buying two acres on Valwood Drive, zoned for churches. We have some splendid people here. Please remember us in your prayers."

Central Ohio District

One of the largest crowds that ever attended our district N.Y.P.S. convention met on May 9 in Warren Avenue Church, Columbus, Ohio. A sad note was sounded in the convention when Rev. Joseph F. Nielson, district president for six years, resigned from office last August. In his place he is now sunning himself in Brazil. Under his versatile leadership the district N.Y.P.S. program has been interesting and progressive. Also, Rev. Charles Gates resigned as district treasurer, to go as a missionary to Brazil; and Rev. Paul Pusey, pastor of the district secretary's office after seven years of service.

The following officers were elected for the new assembly year: Rev. H. Keiser, president; Rev. Clare St. John, vice-president; Rev. John Dennis, secretary; Rev. Paul Pusey, treasurer; Rev. Robert Quanstrom, supervisor of high school department; Carolyn Cook and Elmer Wright, teen-age representatives.

Reports indicated that our young people in Central Ohio are going forward for Christ on the district, zone, and local levels.

Jacksonville, Texas—Recently First Church witnessed the best revival for the past several years. Evangelists Alva O. and Gladys Estep were greatly used of the Lord, and twenty-five people were brought to God for regeneration, or entire sanctification. The Estep's Scene-o-fool work added to the attendance. On the closing day the average attendance in Sunday school was 208, and in our assembly we had four new members added to the church. We came to Jacksonville in January of 1957, at the completion of the new church edifice in a growing section of the city. Rev. Robert Combs led the people in the construction of the brick-veneer building. In June of '57 we completed a three-bedroom parsonage, constructed of the same type brick used in the church. We now have property valued at $30,000 with debt of only $12,000.—J. Ray Shoulers, Pastor.

Evangelist James W. Thomas reports: "In May we had a meeting with Rev. R. L. Brown and the good folks at Wicks, Arkansas; God came in a wonderful way on the last Sunday morning. Then I went to the Maple Mill Church, in Malvern, Arkansas, and next to Vidor, Texas. I have open dates after July 1, through September, also an open date in October. God is blessing me in the field, and I shall be glad to go as the Lord may lead. Write me, Route 2, Box 55A, Gravette, Arkansas."
Evangelist L. J. Scheerr writes: "I will be in Tennessee and in Wisconsin in September and October of this year, and have some open time that I would like some dates. Write me, 950 Floral Drive, Orlando, Florida."

Leverett Brothers, evangelists, write: "Due to a change in a pastor's plans, also a cancellation, we have some good open dates for July and August. We'll be glad to go as the Lord may lead. Write us, Lamar, Missouri."

San Antonio District Assembly

From the very beginning the blessing and presence of God were manifest in the forty-fifth assembly of the San Antonio District. Pastor and people of San Antonio First Church were very gracious hosts.

Under the capable guidance and direction of Dr. D. I. Vanderpool, the business of the assembly was dispatched with ease and efficiency. Dr. Vanderpool's messages and words of counsel were anointed of the Spirit.

Rev. W. H. Davis, district superintendent, gave an outstanding and encouraging report. During the four years he has served the district, splendid gains have been made along practically every line. Giving for all purposes, church membership, Sunday school enrollment, along with other phases of the work, have shown good progress. Brother Davis was re-elected to serve his fifth term. The people of the San Antonio District love and appreciate the Davises.

A blessed and challenging home mission program has been launched across the district. In the Wednesday evening service, April 30, Dr. Vanderpool preached a powerful home mission message, pointing out our responsibilities to reach the lost here at home. At the close, Brother Davis outlined his program for the year, and almost four thousand dollars was pledged to start a new church in Austin, Texas. A Home Mission Club has been organized, and the initial response has been enthusiastic. The Golden Anniversary goal for our district calls for the organization of four new churches. In some of our fine cities lots have been purchased and plans are being made for home mission revivals.

The Nazarene Publishing House was capably represented by Dr. Erwin G. Benson, the Department of Ministry Benevolence by Rev. Dean Wessels, and President R. H. Cantrell gave a good report of the progress of Bethany Nazarene College.

Other visitors included Superintendent Willis French of South Arkansas District, Superintendent Everett Howard of Texas-Mexican District, Missionary Harold Hampton, Mrs. Louise R. Chapman, general N.F.M.S. president, and Lt. Col. Paul Winslow, Nazarene chaplain.

An old-fashioned Nazarene evangelistic service was conducted on the closing evening of the assembly, and as the people sang the songs of Zion, God's Spirit came upon the congregation. Vanderpool brought a wonderful message, which was received amid shouts of blessing and victory.—L. E. Humrich, Reporter.

Evangelist Daniel Stafford writes: "Due to a conflict in dates, I have a cancellation, August 27 to September 7. I would be happy to re-slate this date, as the Lord may lead. Write me, Box 207, Southport, Indiana."

Clarksburg, West Virginia — This church recently experienced one of the greatest revivals of its history with Rev. C. B. Fugett as the evangelist. God came in mighty power, the altar was filled night after night, and people sought and found the Lord in the old-fashioned way. "Truly God was in our midst and blessed and used Brother Fugett in a marvelous way; his messages were rich and deep.—Hugh O. Johnson, Pastor.

Deaths

REV. DELBERT D. PALMER

Delbert D. Palmer, age sixty-six, pastor of First Church, Canton, Ohio, suffered a fatal heart attack at midnight, Saturday, March 29. He had been in apparent good health and had expected to conduct Sunday church services. He was born in Cleveland, and graduated from Cleveland Bible College in 1914. He came to the church in Canton in May of 1919, after a twenty-seven year pastorate at First Church in Warren. Due to his activities, there are now four Nazarene churches in the Warren area and one in Niles. He preached in many tent and tabernacle meetings. He also pastored at Springfield Heights Church, Akron. For the last thirteen years he had been treasurer for the Akron District. He is survived by his wife, Myra, of the home; a son, Roy Willard, of Warren; two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Sprague of Warren, and Mrs. Calvin P. Maybury of Wollaston, Massachusetts; three brothers, Herbert, George, and Clarence; and a sister, Mrs. Seymour Cooley. Funeral services were conducted in First Church, Canton, with the district superintendent, Rev. C. D. Taylor, officiating.

A Reprint of the FIRST Book ever printed by the Nazarene Publishing House

Prayer
the Secret of Power

By C. J. Kinne
First manager of the Nazarene Publishing House

One of the most significant books ever to roll off the press at the Nazarene Publishing House. Not just because it was the very first, as eventful as that was, but because of its timeless theme so vital to every generation.

Now, after almost fifty years, PRAYER THE SECRET OF POWER is back in print with its same fervent message, ready to meet the need of a modern world.

You'll enjoy it—the simplicity, honesty, and frankness with which it is written, but more specifically, the special attention Brother Kinne has given to the practical side of prayer as it is related to you and me in our everyday Christian living.

Hungry hearts around the world are reaching to the church for help. Shall we give them stones or the Bread of Life? The decision is ours as individual stewards to neglect or plan for distribution of our possessions or to exercise a faithful stewardship through a Christian will. Our bequest does not have to be great to be important—the widow gave her mite but it was blessed of God.

REV. GEORGE KERCHER

George Kercher died suddenly on January 22 at New Smyrna Beach, Florida, while he was serving as pastor. He was converted at the age of twenty in Western Wyoming and was sanctified one year later in the Church of the Nazarenes in Monongahela. Later he was called to preach, and went to Bible College in Canton, Ohio. The Kercher family met and Miss Laura Alice Fluke, on June 12, 1929, in a church in Clearfield, Pennsylvania; they were married on March 13, 1931, at Wellington, Ohio; seven years at First Church, Ft. Lauderdale; and for the past eleven years at New Smyrna Beach, Florida. He is survived by his wife, Laura; two sons, Paul and John Wesley; also one brother, Max; and one sister, Mrs. Frieda Ganes. True Brother Kercher was one of God's anointed. Funeral services were conducted at New Smyrna Beach by Dr. J. L. Knight, district superintendent.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOLS Pay!

Have you had yours?

Listen to these 1958 reports:

- New pupils reached and enrolled in the Sunday school. Prospective church members reached through evangelistic services.—Louisiana.

- Saw forty-five children pray around altar and really felt God's presence there.—Ohio.

- Found talent both in teachers and pupils unknown before. Pupils had spiritual uplift. Opportunity to help teen-agers. Reached some unchurched homes.—Arizona.

- Last year for the first time we held our V.B.S. in August. It was so successful, we plan to do the same this year. Enclosed is our order.—Kansas.

There's still time to prepare for an August V.B.S.
